Great, thanks Dan. We will plan to release on Monday at the start of work.

Attached is the updated draft. I pulled language from the website for the Background section, but removed info on work timing that we already mention in the news brief.

Jason, do you have anything to add/edit?

Thanks,

Nahal

My edits. I would time this to release on the day we start work. Dan

Hi Dan and Jason,

Attached is the first draft of the Fruitland news brief to announce start of work. Please let me know if have any edits/additions. I'm hoping for quick turnaround on this. Now that the webpage is live, I'll add the link after I get your first round of edits.

Since we won't get this approved until late today, I think I makes more sense to issue to media Monday morning. That's the start of work and is better than issuing it late on a Friday. It will also give me time for Soledad to translate the final version. Let me know if you are good with this approach.

Thanks,

Nahal
